NATIONAL LINEMAN APPRECIATION DAY - APRIL 13

Pictured: Trevin J

The National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, NRECA, recognizes the second Monday of every April as National Lineman Appreciation Day. We are especially grateful for Adams-Columbia's hardworking linemen during times like we are experiencing today. When there is a national emergency declared, we are lucky enough to have the piece of mind that we have wonderful individuals that will 'keep the lights' on for us, so to speak.

"Lineworkers are the first responders of our electric cooperative, and they're always ready to get the job done, day or night," said Jay Porter, GM."

Adams-Columbia is proud to honor the 25 lineworkers that maintain 5,353 miles of power lines in our service territory. Please join us in thanking these men this month.
